

CURRENT AFFAIR, a national tabloid television program, on February 15, 1994, played a private home video of Tonya Harding and the man who was her husband at that time. It was an extreme invasion of her privacy and an exploitation by NBC. We are appalled at the audacity of their blatant and "sleazy" quality of journalism.

Therefore, we would like to suggest a boycott of this program's national sponsors. They are, as follows:

Neutrogena T Gel	Pampers	Lever 2,000
Scott Towels	Schick
Nissan	Head and Shoulders Shampoo

In Oregon, local sponsors were Tri Met, Tires Les Schwab and Rubenstein's.

Call your local NBC affiliate that carries CURRENT AFFAIR and let your opinion be known. A public apology to Tonya and all her supporters is definitely in order.
